ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Sample profile. Every person, company, address, phone number, email and dollar figure in this profile is fictional and shown for illustration only. It is not research on a real person. Phone numbers use the reserved 555-01XX range and emails use reserved example domains.

Graham: Graham Thomas Whitcombe grew up on his family's farm near Twin Falls and served five years as a Navy Supply Corps officer before earning an MBA. In 1994 he founded Whitcombe Cold Chain in Boise with two refrigerated warehouses. Over 25 years it grew to 14 facilities across Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Utah, with about 1,100 employees serving food processors and grocers. In 2019 the company was sold to a private equity buyer at a reported $210 M; the family held a majority stake. Graham now runs Larkspur Ridge Capital, the family office, with his son Andrew, and serves as a director and audit committee chair of Treasure Basin Bancorp. He chaired a 2016 regional hospital campaign that raised $38 M.

Celeste: Celeste Marie Whitcombe practiced as a pediatric nurse practitioner for 28 years, most of them in a community clinic serving low-income families. She retired in 2020 and has since focused on children's mental health. She served on the client's Program Advisory Council (2021 - 2024) and chairs the grants committee of a children's hospital foundation. Friends describe her as the family's lead on giving decisions.

Family. All three children are adults. Andrew works in the family office and sits on the donor-advised fund's advisory committee with his parents. Hannah, a clinical social worker, has spoken publicly about youth anxiety, a cause Celeste names as personal.

This document may contain information that is privileged, confidential, or otherwise protected from disclosure. Any review, dissemination, or use of this transmission or any of its contents by persons other than the addressee is strictly prohibited.

Giving. Documented giving totals about $1.49 M since 2012, led by health and human services. Their largest gifts are $500,000 to a regional hospital campaign (2016, Graham chaired) and $250,000 to a children's hospital foundation (2023). Gifts to the client have grown from $5,000 in 2019 to $50,000 a year, and the 2024 - 2025 pledge was paid in full on schedule. They give through the donor-advised fund, usually in December.

Approach. Celeste is the lead decision maker; Graham handles the financial review and prefers multi-year pledges. A campus naming conversation in the $1 M - $2.5 M range is consistent with the capacity estimate and their recent giving. Their past campaign gifts followed a site visit and a meeting with the executive director and board chair.

LIQUIDITY NOTES

Most of the family's wealth is held through Larkspur Ridge Capital in diversified investments, LLC real estate and director stock. The 2019 company sale created substantial liquidity, but sale proceeds are historical and are not counted as a current asset. Liquid assets are estimated at $9 M - $14 M, supported by the family's history of six-figure gifts and a donor-advised fund.
