LEADERSHIP

Our Leadership Team

A team of storytellers, strategists, and lifelong believers in the mission.

Leadership Team

Anthony R. Alonso

PRESIDENT & CEO

Every great campaign needs someone who believes, without a doubt, that a community's generosity is bigger than anyone has yet imagined. That's Anthony. In 35 years of fundraising, he's helped organizations raise over a billion dollars, but the number he's proudest of is the one no spreadsheet can capture: the trust of every board and every donor who took a chance on a bigger vision because he asked them to. A former AFP Las Vegas Chapter President and twice honored for excellence in philanthropy, Anthony also serves as Board Chair of the Salvation Army of Southern Nevada, living out in his own community the same conviction he brings to every client: that the right ask, made with heart, changes everything.

Amy Wiles

CHIEF CAMPAIGN STRATEGIST

Amy turns a feasibility study into a movement. With over 30 years in the nonprofit sector, she has the rare gift of translating a bold mission into a campaign plan that staff, volunteers, and donors all rally behind. She has guided organizations through capital campaigns ranging from six figures to nine, building case statements that hold up under a board's toughest questions and gift charts that hold up even better in public phase. Named 2025 Outstanding Fundraising Professional by AFP Las Vegas and a graduate of both the Jameson Fellowship and Leadership Las Vegas, Amy leads Catapult's strategy team with the belief that the best campaigns aren't just well-planned — they're well-loved by everyone who's part of them, built around real donors, not just a spreadsheet.

Zina Birmingham

CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

Zina started as a student Engagement Officer, the same seat every one of Catapult's fundraising specialists sits in today, and rose through every leadership role the company offers on her way to COO. That path shows: she's helped raise nearly half a billion dollars for clients over the last quarter century, and she still runs operations like someone who remembers exactly what it feels like to be on the phone making the ask. A hands-on operator with a reputation for fixing problems before clients ever notice them, Zina built the training systems and quality standards that every Catapult Engagement Officer still follows today. Her promise to every client is simple: the machine behind the mission will never let you down.

Catapult
FUNDRAISING

LEADERSHIP

Our Leadership Team

A team of storytellers, strategists, and lifelong believers in the mission.

Leadership Team

Jeff J. Grandy, M.Ed

VP OF CLIENT DEVELOPMENT

Jeff has spent 15 years proving that fundraising can be taught, mentored, and passed forward. He's an instructor in UNLV's Nonprofit Management program and a past president of AFP's Texas Coastal Bend chapter. He brings that same teaching instinct to every new Catapult partnership, helping first-time clients understand not just what will happen in their campaign, but why each step matters.

Maria Healy

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT

Over three decades, Maria has managed hundreds of client relationships, and she treats every single one like it's her only one. Her superpower is project management with a human touch: turning a complex, multi-phase campaign into a calm, well-run partnership her clients actually enjoy being part of. A longtime AFP New Jersey Chapter board member, Maria believes the best fundraising strategy is also the kindest one.

Gwen Paxon, CFRE

VP OF CLIENT SERVICES

Gwen has spent 25 years proving that client service and fundraising results aren't two different jobs. They're the same job, done well. A past president of the AFP-NJ Chapter with degrees from Temple, Saint Mary's, and North Park University, she leads Catapult's client services team with the conviction that a nonprofit partner should never have to wonder what's happening with their campaign, because Gwen already told them.

Catapult FUNDRAISING